About Me

I am an Exeter based playwright who has been writing, producing and selling my own plays for ten years. My shows have been produced across Devon and Cornwall to some very positive feedback, in addition to having shows produced internationally. I have a catalogue of 191 Plays & 10 Monologues varying in subject and length. My style of writing spans right from the gritty and serious pieces to an old school comedic farce. I have also been producing/hosting an audio play podcast entitled “Theatrical Shenanigans” since January 2023.
